POPESCU ANA ROXANA Task 1	5	5	4	4	18	36	C2	task 1	The target reader is fully informed. The candidate develops two points, investing in teachers as the future "the financial investment in the teachers' salaries could convince young adults to pursue a career in training the next generation", as well as encouraging leisure activities among students "moreover, taking a break from a challenging subject like chemistry and playing some volleyball could work as a stress relief activity". Linkers could be used more consistently throughout "given the fact that; taking all things into consideration". Some attention needs to be paid to pronouns "a teacher...he is well prepared...students will pay attention to his class", as well as using words such as "meditation" properly.
POPESCU ANA ROXANA Task 2	5	5	4	4	18			task 2	The content is fully relevant to the task and the reader is informed. The conventions of the communicative task effectively hold the reader's attention, the text being well organised and coherent. The candidate employs various grammatical structures and language with flexibility in keeping with the informal tone of the letter e.g. "It is surely going to be successful for a long time; I can hear them comparing the fictional characters to their old neighbours; ...must be a lot of fun, don't you think?". Occasional errors occur "the action evolves around...; acquaintances; I heard about the last night's episode".
